AND TECHNOLOGY, THIRUVANANTHAPURAM
ZOOLOGY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION
The Department
The Department of Zoology was established in 1963 as a centre of Kerala University and became a Department of Calicut University in 1968. It is a pioneer institute in the field of Entomology along with most of the modern fields in biological sciences. Currently the Department offers M. Sc., M. Phil. and Ph.D. programmes. The research groups include Entomology, Endocrinology, Acarology, Biosphere Ecology, Biochemistry, Biopesticides, Molecular Biology, Biotechnology, Microbiology and Ornithology.

The Seminar
The science of entomology provides many choices and opportunities for those interested in the diversity of nature. Out of some 1.3 million described species, insects account for more than two-thirds of all known organisms, date back some 400 million years, and have many kinds of interactions with humans and other forms of life on earth. Since then, humans have devised many methods of dealing with or managing insect pests. Strategies, which involve multiple tactics used simultaneously, are the preferred way to manage insect pest populations. Effective pest management strategies have all been built upon the foundation of accurate identification and an understanding of the insects’ life history and habits. Human and environmental safeties are paramount and must be part of every insect pest management decision. The seminar, thus intends to provide a platform for discussions on the above aspects.

The Venue
The seminar will be held at the University of Calicut. The University campus is located 22 km south of the historical city of Kozhikkode on NH 17, 12 km from Parappanangadi Railway Station and 10 km from Calicut Airport.
